AC4

Association of Christian Community Computer Centers

Computer Skills to Make a Living ~ A Spiritual Foundation to Make a Life

AC4 is a program of TechMission formed to support Christian community computer centers (C4's) across the world. C4's include any ministry that uses technology as an outreach to serve at-risk communities, such as technology-enabled after school programs, jobs programs, entrepreneurship programs, computer classes, computerized adult education programs and computer refurbishing. C4's work to address the digital divide, which is the gap that separates those with access to and skills with computers from those without. It is a major social issue because computer literacy is becoming almost as important as basic reading literacy in gaining employment.

There are currently over 500 organizations that have joined AC4. AC4 provides yearly membership to both organizations and individuals starting as low as $20. AC4 sites serve over 50,000 individuals each year with combined technology program budgets of over $16.5 million.

You can sign up for membership on our website at www.techmission.org/ac4/

Benefits of AC4 Membership

- Training to better run your computer center via conferences, workshops, conference calls and resources such as our TechMission Manual and curriculum materials.
- Resources providing assistance in recruiting tech volunteers, getting equipment, grants, staffing resources and discounts for computer centers.
- Community with people from other computer centers through conferences, conference calls, our E-mail list, our contact list of computer centers and information sharing on our Website. We also provide opportunities for regional collaboration.

TECHMISSION CORPS

Internships in Urban Youth Ministry

TechMission Corps is an AmeriCorps program that provides opportunities in urban ministries throughout greater Boston and Los Angeles in three service areas:

- After school programs serving at-risk children by integrating technology in their after school programs and providing them with a safe environment that encourages academic, social and spiritual development.
- Teen programs serving at-risk youth by providing academic support, college readiness, technology training and spiritual development.
- Computer classes for workforce development offering youth and adults in at-risk communities a range of courses from computer basics to specialized certifications.

TechMission provides the following opportunities to serve in the greater Boston and Los Angeles areas:

1. One-year AmeriCorps internships in urban ministry.
2. Work-study opportunities in urban ministry for qualified college students.
3. Volunteer opportunities in urban ministry.
